

becoming anthroposophia

Wednesday's 4:00 - 5:30 Urunga Community Centre

During the Christmas Conference 23/24 and the new-founding of the Society Rudolf Steiner referred to the essence of Anthroposophy as Anthroposophia . Her task includes inspiring spiritual science, holding within herself the goal of human spiritual evolution and accompanying the development of humankind.

We are asked to build a 'stronger kind of togetherness that should exist, the world over, without interruption, among those who embrace the cause of Anthroposophia', and to cultivate our understanding and recognition of her as a living Being who acts among us.

But Anthroposophia can only fulfill her task if we create and cultivate human communities, willing to provide her with an 'earthly form'.

This in-person study group is based on Steiner's Letters to the Members, Leading Thoughts, & lectures. We draw on our own insights, use conversation, creative activity and contemplation to explore how we can better understand and achieve becoming the body of Anthroposophia by finding a deeper way of working together as individuals.
